

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Texture coordinates and LOD (Level of Detail) values are computed on a pixel-by-pixel basis from object data, and based on the texture coordinates and LOD values, a filtering domain of texels read from a texture memory is determined, and a weighted average is acquired depending on the size of the determined filtering domain, to create the texture color to be adhered to the polygon.